

Here's to the mother figures,
The women who raised us
And raise us still
The boss who let us cry in her office
The teacher who told us we could do anything
The best friend who knows how to change a tyre and change our mind.
Here's to the godmothers and the grandmas,
The step mums, the new mums and the two mums,
Here's to the small things we take for granted
And the big things we'll never forget
Let's celebrate all the women who care for us this Mother's Day
Here's to all the ways you've inspired us
Looked after us
And made us feel loved...
without ever asking for anything in return
And now it's our turn.
So, for once, relax, indulge yourself and let us give you something for a change

To the women who give, thank you.
Happy Mothers Day.
